COMBINATION IS BEING SOUGHT TO BEAT M'ADOO OUT

Champ Clark Mentioned As Best Available Material For Accomplishing End

SMITH OF NEW YORK ALSO IS COUNTED POSSIBILITY

Bryan Must Be Reckoned With As He Is Believed To Control One Third of Votes

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, June 30.—Seemingly in agreement that William G. McAdoo has the inside track on the democratic presidential nomination, tonight, attempts were being made within the inter-circle of old line democratic party leaders to prevent his selection by the convention. The plan includes prominent consideration of Champ Clark, former speaker of the house of representatives, as a candidate.

It was understood that efforts were being made to get in touch with Mr. Clark to learn if he would accept the nomination if tendered, and that among those whom the combination would hope to enlist in its support is W. J. Bryan, who encompassed the defeat of Clark at Baltimore in 1912, after a majority had voted for him, and forced the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

Bryan's acknowledged veto power over any candidate, through the operaiton of the rule which requires two-thirds of the delegates for a nomination, made his support to the plan a factor sought by its managers. Conferences among the old line leaders were going on actively immediately after today's session of the convention and they made it plain in their private expressions that they were going to any possible lengths to beat McAdoo.

Owe Clark Nomination.

Those forwarding the plan were using as one of their arguments for Clark as the strongest man to put up against McAdoo that the party really owed a nomination to the former speaker in payment for its action in Baltimore when it deprived him of the prize after repeatedly having given him a majority—something which has never been done before in the history of the party.

Opponents to McAdoo went into action without delay after the hostile demonstration given him by the convention today, when presented against his will as his champions said, and with the argument that he should be "drafted for the service of the nation."

The further statement to the convention that McAdoo had assured he would accept the nomination if it came to him, proved further shock to the old line leaders. To each other they professed imperative need for prompt and forceful action if his nomination was to be prevented.

The first concern of those opposed to McAdoo was to hold the Palmer and Cox lines long enough to find a candidate to whom they could swing a two-thirds vote, before there were any of the threatened defections to McAdoo which it was feared would start him on a wave toward the nomination.

Smith for Second Place

To strengthen their program, the inside leaders hit upon a plan to take Governor Smith of New York as a running mate for the candidate they hope to ultimately select despite the notice which W. Bourke Cockran gave to the convention today that New York would accept no second place for the governor. It is no secret, the Tammany delegation came to San Francisco with no intention of holding to Smith for very many ballots and with a breaking up of the unit rule many of the New York delegates were expected to go eventually to Cox or Edwards.

Rather than push Smith too hard the plan of the Tammany managers, it is said, was to run him again for governor of New York and then hold him in reserve for their candidate for mayor of New York after a second term at Albany. The demonstration which swept the convention today after he had been placed in nomination by W. Bourke Cockran was not counted wholly for Smith's nomination Nevertheless it served the purpose of putting the convention in a very happy and friendly mind toward the New York governor and there were possibilities of its being capitalized in the situation suddenly presented when the party leaders decided to make an effort to beat McAdoo.

McAdoo Worries Them

None of the old line insiders made any effort tonight to conceal his concern at the jump in the McAdoo boom or to deny that it was loaded with threatening possibilities from their viewpoint.

The night after a grilling day in the convention hall, far from being spent in rest, saw much planning and rounding up of forces. Some old time leaders agreed that the boast so frequently made on the convention floor as a jibe at the republicans that the democratic nomination "would not be made in a hotel room at 2 a. m.", was in danger of being challenged by the impending developments. Those who were willing to speak frankly, although not publicly acknowledged that they had an uphill fight on their hands trying to stem the McAdoo wave.

Convention Swayed By Oratory and Songs of Long Ago Cheers Democracy's Leaders

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, June 30.—Lifted out of itself by hours of oratory, old songs that tugged at the heartstrings and the throbbing appeal of the mighty pipe organ, the democratic national convention brought nomination day to a tremendous emotional crisis that had nothing to do with candidates or platform issues.

Factional differences were forgotten; political jealousies were swept aside and from the seething tumult on the floor to the singing, cheering thousands in the packed galleries, the vast assembly gave itself up at intervals without stint to a great brotherly reunion as unexpected as it was overwhelming.

The scene was unparalleled in the memory of the oldest convention observers.

There was no feature lacking to draw the thousands from their sober business into a riot of feeling, and the convention surrendered unconditionally.

Flooding silver light from the electric arcs high in the galleries bathed floor and platform in a strange appealing glow, the crash and clamor of the military bands, the great impressive sweep of the arched roof of the auditorium and always the solemn elation in the voice of the great organ tuned to the melodies of other days, were not to be resisted.

Even before the convention was called to order before noon, the hall was touched with the hint of what was to come. Rooters for Palmer and for Cox had come armed for great demonstrations. Tehre was no mistaking that the crowd expected it.

High against the wall of the western gallery a red coated band from Ohio was placed, fronted by a solid block of rooters who got into action before the delegates had filled more than half their seats. Across in a perch above the organ loft, the convention band was at work with stirring melodies and the organist threw his great instrument into full roaring accompaniment of any air the rooters raised.

When the first nominating orators had been heard and the names of Senator Owen, Former Ambassador Gerard and Senator Hitchcock had been placed on the ballot amid liberal applause, Florida yielded to Pennsylvania and the name of A. Mitchell Palmer was presented to set the convention on its wild ecstacy of singing and cheering. The Palmer men were ready. No noise making had been overlooked, no device of rooters to stimulate the clamor left untried.

Marched For Palmer.

Up in front of the platform a long slim, red headed youth leader waved frantic arms from a rickety perch on a chair while a California woman in white above the demonstration forward with almost equal vigor. The shouts of the Palmer adherents grew and swelled until a Georgia delegate hooted the state standard from its place and started the march of states to be followed by Pennsylvania and half a dozen other delegations.

The tumult lasted more than half an hour. Around and around the aisles the procession went, the standards bobbing awkwardly high over the heads of the marchers. A lusty rooter danced along with a slim little woman perched on his shoulder. On the platform a score of Palmer women crowded to the speaker's stand and with waving flags urged the delegates on while the band joined heartily in the songs which were caught up all over the hall and galleries.

Cox Has His Turn.

When Governor Cox was named, it was the turn of the Cox supporters and they came to the task with a will. Again more than a half hour was given over to the uproar and singing, to the parading of state standards led by Ohio and Kentucky. Yells given with the barking note of football rooters came from the Ohio section in the gallery. The Ohio band never paused. Again and again it drew new cheers from the southern delegates with the strains of "Dixie" or sought and found men of Irish descent with "The Wearing of The Green."

While the riot of movement, color, and noise was at its height, rooters' bands tooped down from the gallary to the floor. They tramped around the aisles singing "Ohio, Ohio," and the convention with impartial good temper, joined in.

It took much effort by Governor Cox' managers to still the uproar and let the business of nomination proceed. Rooters fought their way back to the gallery and the delegates back to their seats to await the next act of the great show.

Newspapers Criticised.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi, among the first to second Governor Cox' nomination struck a note that provoked the convention had been keyed up. He hit hard at the newspapers of San Francisco which published the story of the governor's divorce ten years ago and a burst of cheers that rang out answered his thrust.

The Chairman Robinson recognized W. Bourke Cockran of New York to nominate Governor Smith. As he came to the platform the delegates greeted him as an old friend. They cheered and called expectantly to him knowing of old his power as an orator.

Again they were not disappointed. The New Yorker struck a note from the first that found a quick answer. Cockran launched unstinted admiration on President Wilson, pointing dramatically to the great illuminated portrait of the president overlooking the convention. Nearly every word and gesture brought cheers and yells from the floor and Cockran's tribute to Governor Smith set the New York delegation going with American flags and much cheering.

Started Slowly.

It did not seem that any unusual event was at hand. The demonstration started slowly. Cockran made his way through admirers on the platform. On the floor, back with his own delegation, he was accorded a reception that threatened to cripple his right hand with the vigor of appreciative handshaking. New Jersey folks came over to join in.

The band master far up in his gallery, then had an inspiration. Previously he had been playing "Tammany" over and over again in recognition of the New York delegation, but now the strains of "The Sidewalks of New York," came down from the loft. The big organ took up the homely old tune of 25 years ago. It was too much for the crowd. Throughout the hall gray haired men and women began to sing, lured by strains that harked them back to their days of youth. A Jerseyite seized his state standard and marched across to the New York section. Up came the New York standard and again the march was on.

Over and over again the old tune was played and sung. Standard after standard joined the march. The thing was contagious. Other old favorites came rumbling down in quick succession, "Rosy O'Grady," "The Bowery," "After the Ball," and a dozen other old timers. The tide of humanity jamming the aisles was swaying and stepping to the rhythm of the music. Every one was singing. Long forgotten words came back to mind. Palmer banners, Cox hat bands and tokens of other candidates were mingled in the throng without regard to the affiliation. It seemed as though the whole convention had gone singing mad. Men and women, old and young surged along laughing and singing until every state standard had joined in the grotesque line that bobbed and nodded like a lot of marionettes above the shoving, laughing and singing crowd on the floor.

Stopped By Exhaustion.

Sheer exhaustion, apparently, finally brought the scene to a close. Gradually the cheering subsided and the convention went back to nomination speeches. It did not know itself however for the delegates had hardly settled in their seats when Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City, in one of the shortest convention speeches on record and with the ringing denunciation for those who said McAdoo would not accept a nomination, placed the secretary's name before the convention.

For a fourth time pandemonium broke loose. Cheers and shouts swept up from the hall and down from galleries. Delegates were on their feet again, surging out to another parade as though the day had just begun. It was the western men and women who led. The Washington state standard came bobbing to the front with Deleware in close pursuit. Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Texas joined in. North and South Dakota, Kansas and California and other states kept pace. Here and there over the hall other standards rocked and swayed as struggles took place to get them in motion against opposition. A raiding party of McAdoo adherents charged the speaker's stand and carried it by storm. The tumult grew until the hall fairly bulged with the sound. For many minutes there was no stopping it. Convention officials let the demonstration take itscourse. Tramping along in time to the pounding of the drums of the band, all that could be heard above the general din, the demonstrators chanted, "Mac'll do, Mac'll do," over and over in a chorus. In the Missouri section a desperate struggle to get the states' standard into the ranks resulted in its destruction.

Texas To The Front.

Somebody reached a place before the speaker's stand carrying a great lone star banner, the Texas flag. The blazing silver glow of the spot light caught and held bright folds as the standards came hurrying forward. Hands reached for them from the platform. Half the states of the union were in the group of standards growing up like a great triangle before the platform. The hall rocked every minute with a new outburst of cheering. Tennessee nad North Carolina standards came staggering forward in eager hands. New volleys of cheering greeted them. Florida came in and from the surging mob of McAdoo supporters at the foot of the speaker's stand shouts of "Come on New York," went up. In cadence with the drum beat of the band they roared it over and over again. The galleries took it up.

Over where the New York delegation filled a great block of seats the state standard rocked and wavered with a struggle about it.

Again and again it rose in the air as though about to join in the demonstration, only to be pulled back again. Meanwhile the rush of the standard bearers in the melee at the platform had been swarming to the press stands in seeking a road to the stand itself. They climbed over the barriers and tramped recklessly over desks, indifferent to wires and typewriters, despite efforts of the police and convention officials to stop them.

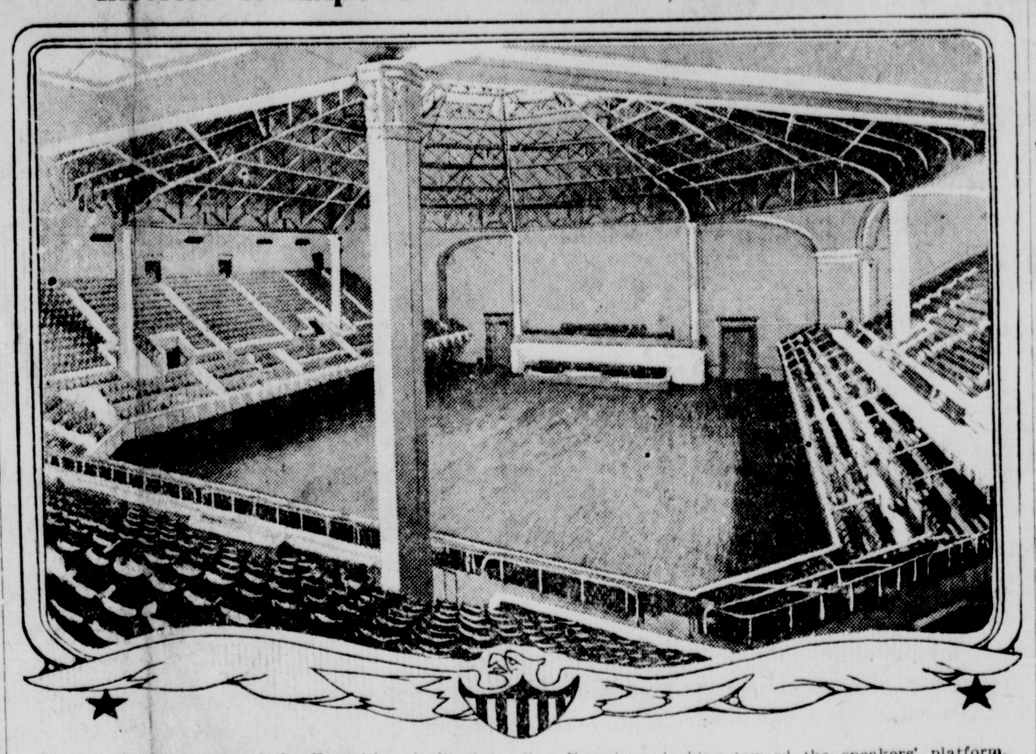

Slowly but finally the demonstration subsided like the passing of a storm, but it was long before Chairman Robinson could recognize New Jersey for the nomination of Governor Edwards and the band broke out into "There'll Be a Hot Time," to the huge delight of the crowd which swayed and gurgled with mirth.

Cheers and Hisses.

In presenting the governor's name Charles F. X. O'Brien went into the prohibition issue, appealing for personal liberty policies. He was cheered and hissed from some points on the floor, the first sign of disapproval of principles in the long day of ferment and uproar. When he concluded, Governor Edwards was cheered vigorously and the band continued its musical reminder of other and wetter days, "playing "How Dry I Am," but the demonstration did not reach the proportion of the storm that had gone before it.

Eight hours after the convention came to order and at the close of the session that fairly beggared description for color and sound features, Representative Flood of Virginia moved a recess, and with one last terrific roar of "Aye" the tired delegates began streaming out to await the battle on the platform tomorrow.

BRIEFEST SPEECH MADE BY JENKINS

Kansas City Divine Nominates McAdoo In Few Words and With Little Oratory

By The Associated Press

San Francisco, June 30.—Dr. Burris Jenkins of Missouri, who was to have placed William G. McAdoo in nomination for the presidency at the democratic national convention, took the platform at 5:30 o'clock and the McAdoo demonstration started on the floor.

Dr. Jenkins told the convention that he had intended to make a nomination speech for McAdoo, "but on account of persistent and insistent requests from him that his name not be presented in a speech, I have decided not to do so."

"I am sure that from the spirit manifested in my delegation and in this convention that we shall draft him for the service of the country" said Dr. Jenkins.

"We know that if so drafted he will accept the nomination," said Dr. Jenkins, "and any rumors of telegrams supposed to have been received, denying that he would accept the nomination, are falsehoods perpetrated by the enemies of our party. I therefore place in nomination, William G. McAdoo."

McAdoo Losing No Sleep

Huntington, L. I., June 30.—A reporter went to the McAdoo home. All was quiet and the house in darkness. A watchman admitted the reporter to the grounds. A maid answered the front door bell and after much persuasion consented to take a note to Mr. McAdoo's room.

Written by the reporter it told of the nominating speech and asked:

"Will you accept the nomination"?

She returned with the information that all members of the family were asleep and that she would not awaken them.

Employes at the McAdoo home said from what they could observe Mr. McAdoo had received no information from the convention hall and that when he retired shortly after 10:30 o'clock he was apparently unaware that his friends and admirers had placed the name before the convention.

SUMMONED TO CLARKSVILLE AS MURDER CASE WITNESSES

United States Commissioner Jno. S. Stone and H. G. Wheat an agent of Internal Revenuue Department with headquarters at Paris, have been summoned to attend the district court at Clarksville today as witnesses in the case of L. R. Lynch, ex-constable at Bogata, who is charged with the murder of a farmer named Lawler.

The case is set for trial today, and as there is no other case on the docket ahead of it the probbaility is that it will go to trial. Messrs. Stone and Wheat have been summoned as witnesses for the defense.

It is understood that the defendant called on them at their office in Paris some time before the killing occurred and informed them that he had located an alleged illicit still that he expected to raid.

The place was raided by Sheriff Elder however before the defendant made his contemplated raid.

McAdoo's Nomination Signal For Scene of Old-Time Enthusiasm By Delegates

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, June 30.—William G. McAdoo was placed in nomination for presidency late this afternoon at the democratic national convention, in one of the shortest nominating speeches on record, by Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City.

After Cox, Palmer, Gerard, Cummings, Hitchcock and others had been placed in nomination, Jenkins took the platform and told the convention that in view of the persistent and insistent demands from McAdoo that no nominating speech be made for him he would accede to that request, but that it must be necessary to "draft him for the service of the nation."

Any rumors that McAdoo would not serve if nominated, Jenkins told the convention, could be dismissed as the "work of enemies."

Dr. Jenkins merely said:

"I nominate William G. McAdoo," and the pent-up enthusiasm of the McAdoo forces broke loose in a loud and noisy demonstration.

Lined Up in Parade.

A parade around the convention floor started as soon as the short speech was concluded and soon the standards of Washington, Delaware, Louisiana, Alabama, Utah, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oregon, Wyoming, Maine, Arizona, Texas, Idaho, Michigan, Kansas, Nevada, Hawaii, Wisconsin and South Dakota were in the parading, howling line.

Spectators in the Missouri delegation tried to put their standard in the parade and the move developed a fist fight in which the police interfered. Bennett Clark, son of Champ Clark, was among those who tried to keep the banner out of the procession In the mixup the standard was trampled on the floor and torn in two, but the McAdoo men rescued the letters "ouri" and bore them triumphantly into the line of the marchers.

There was a good deal of scrimmaging and fighting for possession of other state standards which McAdoo forces wanted to get into the demonstration and which members of the delegation wanted to keep out.

George Dunkley of the Colorado delegation carried the state standard in after, it is said, there was an agreement to keep it out. Helen Grenfell, former superintendent of schools in Denver, announced her intention of taking it away from him and took up a position in waiting. Dunkley saw the situation and ducked down another aisle with the standard. Miss Grenfell and George L. Bradley of the delegation finally forced the standard back to its position.

Demonstration Noisy

The demonstration was as noisy as any of those preceding it, but there was no effort at concerted cheering. The pipe organ played various airs without any apparent system but the demonstrators paid little attention to the music as they swirled around on one another's toes, whooping and hurrahing.

The noise making kept up unabated in the galleries taking a big part in it. A little of system finally was put into the demonstration by a group of McAdoo enthusiasts who mounted the high speaker's table with an American flag and a megaphone. They led the crowd in singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here", and "We Won't Go Home Till Morning", but the attempt to keep the demonstraotrs together in their singing was drowned out by the whoop of those in other parts of the hall.

Part of the paraphernalia of the group on the speakers stand was an emerald pennant bordered in orange, apparently home-made, with "McAdoo" printed across it in white letters a foot high. A woman climbed up on the speaker's table and held it aloft while the crowd let loose with a renewed roar of enthusiasm.

Took Second Spurt

The outburst was the signal for the clustering of state standards around the speaker's stand which was almost in the center of the big auditorium. More than thirty in all were brought in and held up together while the McAdoo men went wild again. Some of the emblems were tattered and crushed out of shape and from one the name had been torn entirely. New York, Georgia, Indiana, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Ohio, Iowa, Virginia and Maryland were among the standards which were kept in their places despite the yells of the group on the platform. The Missouri standard also was standing again at its proper station but it was in tatters.

So great did the crush become about the assembling points that the police were called on to get the jam seated and to keep the demonstrators from breaking down the little platform that was used by the speaker's that jutted out from the front line of the stage, and convention officials seemed to fear that it would be stripped away entirely.

The end of thirty-five minutes of demonstrating saw another attempt to get the states into position and for a little while a man with a megaphone got considerable harmony behind a repetition of "We want McAdoo, we want McAdoo."

It was not for long, however, for the enthusiasts preferred to keep the demonstration in their own hands and to keep it going in their own diversified ways.

Lasted Forty Minutes.

Forty minutes from the start of the noise, Senator Robinson made his first attempt for order.

It was apparent that the demonstration was dying but there still were many who wanted to keep it alive a little longer and they paid no attention at all to the gavel.

Finally, getting order after the demonstration had lasted for forty-five minutes, Senator Robinson ordered that the roll call of states be resumed.

COMPRESS WAREHOUSE FULL WITH LAST YEAR'S CROP

A good deal of cotton at the compress is at last being moved, the movement having commenced within the past few days. It is being consigned to Eastern points for storage at Fall River and other places in an endeavor to make sales and in order to make room for the new crop.

Owing to strikes among railroad employes and other strikes the spinners have changed their method of buying, and are practically buying only on arrival. This is causing quite a number of holders to consign their cotton to the east.

O. L. Merrill of Ladonia was in Paris yesterday looking after the shipment of about nine hundred bales. Cotton that was shipped in the early spring to Galveston is just now arriving at the Eastern mills.

There are about 15,000 bales of cotton at the compress warehouse here now, which is about its storage capacity. As fast as it is being moved the place is being taken up by cotton shipped in to be compressed.

Unless the movement keeps up uninterfered with by further strikes until all of the last year's crop is disposed of and shipped out there is danger that there won't be room for handling the new crop.

RESOLUTIONS ARE MADE READY FOR FULL COMMITTEE

Which Is Programmed To Offer Them To Convention When It Meets This Morning

LEAGUE PLANK TO BE AS PRESIDENT WILSON WISHED

Membrs of Sub-Committee Put Under Pledge of Secrecy Until The Full Committee Acts

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, June 30.—While the convention was at work the resolutions committee still was wrestling with the platform. The sub-committee of nine continued its eorts to harmonize contending views that it might secure from the membership of the full committee an approval for its work and minimize the chances for a fight on the convention floor.

But the word came out during the day that the administration chiefs were agreeig upon a prohibiiton plank which they described as "slightly moist,"—a plank which they said would stand by the constitutional amendment but still contain declarations of personal liberty for the citizens without "vexatious interferences."

The league of nations plank, the administration chiefs said, would be "just as Woodrow Wilson wants it without the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a 't.'"

The plan of the leaders was to keep the convention in session until all nominating speeches had been disposed of and then adjourn until one o'clock tomorrow afternooon when it was hoped to consider the platform and then proceeding to balloting for a nominee.

Reports lame from the sub-committee at 7 o'clock that it had finished work drafting the tentative platform and would be ready to submit its draft to the full committee at 7:30.

Platform Epigrammatic

As the sub-committee left the room in which it had worked nearly 24 hours, Senator McKellar remarked that "no one would ever have to ask what that platform meant." Former Governor Hodges of Kansas added that it was "epigrammatic."

Chairman Glass imposed on the sub-committee members a pledge of secrecy. He said no planks would be made public until after action by the full committee. All members expressed general satisfaction with the results of the committee's labors.

There were several clashes during the discussion of the tentative draft For the most part, however, members said their deliberation had been marked with the most cordial relationship and earnest and sincere debate."

Among important planks placed in the tentative platform by the sub-committee were those dealing with Mexico and industrial relations.

On Mexico a plank was approved expressing friendly feeling toward Mexico and promising recognition of any well established de facto government.

The Labor Plank

The labor plank fully recognized the right of collective bargaining and representation of labor by its own spokesmen.

All of the sub-committee decisions, Chairman Glass said tonight, were tentative. He announced as "pure inventions," reports of divided formal votes on any of the planks.

On most of the tentative platforms minor features the Virginia platform was said to have been followed closely.

In letting the full committee handle the liquor question the sub-committee platform draft was rported to be without any plank whatever on prohibition. Members let it be known that by a vote of 5 to 4 the sub-committee laid all such planks on the table.

By the one vote margin the sub-committe was said to have excluded the anti-saloon league's law enforcement plank, those proposed by Postmaster General Burleson for modification of the Volstead law and others. The sentiment of the sub-committee majority was said to be for silence in the platform on the question because of the intense feeling on both wet and dry sides and also because of controversy over what the liquuor question is political. Senator McKellar presented the anti-saloon league enforcement plank to the sub-committee and following its defeat, five to four, he said he would present it to the full committee.

Fifty Foot Deadline

In the efforts to have the full committee's deliberations secret, outsiders were shoeed from the room when it convened and spectators required to remain twenty feet from the outside doors. Later Chairman Glass sent out orders extending the "deadline" to fifty feet.

The full committee adopted a motion htat no membe rshould discuss or give out any information concerning the plattorm nor any of the committee deliberations until the work is completed.

The Irish plank as submitted by the sub-committee, expressed sympathy for the Irish cause and held to the view that the league of nations would furnish a remedy for the situation that now engaged the Irish people

The resolutions committee was still in executive session behind guarded doors at 11 o'clock tonight, listening to the reading of the tentative platform which took much time. An all night session was forecast.

CLIFF DWELLERS OF TEXAS ORIGIN

Archaeologist Finds Remains of Construction In the Panhandle and Oklahoma

By The Associated Press:

Dallas, June 30.—That the change from the buffalo lodge teepee to stone construction by the Pueblo cliff dweller began in the Texas Panhandle and in Oklahoma and, as the culture developed, the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dweller pueblos in the valleys of the Colorado and the Rio Grande, is the conclusion of W. K. Morehead, director of an archaeological survey, now working in the Canadian and Cimarron valleys.

In a letter, made public by C. E. Lombardi, a Dallas newspaper publisher, Mr. Moorehead said ancient ruins, hitherto unknown, had been discovered in four northwest Texas and two Oklahoma counties. In addition, he said, ancient irrigation ditches had been found in Clark county, Kansas, and in the valleys of the Beaver and Canadian rivers. The newly discovered ruins extend through some 200 miles of almost inaccessible canyons, according to the letter.

For thirty-five years Mr. Moorehead has been engaged searching Indian remains. In his present researches he is associated with J. B. Thoburn, secretary of the Oklahoma Historical Society; Eldredge R. F. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania; Ralph Dorr, a Maine guide, and Norwood Eldridge and George McEwan. For more than two months the party has been excavating and photographing the Indian ruins.

"These have been unknown to archaeologists," said Moorehead in his letter. "The expedition has worked in four counties in Northwestern Texas and two in Oklahoma and has observed more than a hundred stone foundations of small buildings.

"These are scattered through almost inaccessible canyons and are usually located in very wild places. There are a few exceptions, notably on Wolf Creek, in Ochiltree county, where the ruins lie on an open plain. These have been noted by travelers in the past years.

"But the large groups of these ancient stone buildings on Cottonwood, Tarbox and Antelope creeks were unknown and unexplored. The same is true of many small buildings on the Ritchie King ranch, 40 miles above Canadian, Texas.

"I went and it was found that the foundations of "A number of these ruins were dug ... ns were three to four and a half ... t in height, the stones placed on ... e, and that mud or adobe was ... d to hold the stones in position. ... top of these low walls probably ... l logs or poles were placed and ... red with dirt. The buildings vary from twenty to seventy feet in diameter and are square or rectangular. They do not appear to be circular. Near them are many stone graves. At one location 100 of these stone graves were counted.

"Explorations of the graves and the foundations reveal broken pottery bone implements, stone knives and other Indian stone tools. It is the belief of members of the expedition that these small structures mark the beginning of the Pueblo cliff dweller culture; in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma. As the culture developed the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dweller Pueblo culture in the valleys of the Colorado and the Rio Grande.

"The expedition also found ancient irrigation ditches in Clark county, Kansas, near Englewood. Other ancient irrigation ditches are to be found in the valleys of the Beaver and the Canadian.

"The oldest settlers found them there when the country was settled in 1878. They do not appear to be of Mexican origin. The oldest Comanches, Apaches and Kiowa were interviewed at Anadarko, Oklahoma. They remember hunting buffalo through the region where these stone houses occurred, but the houses, they said, were old when they first saw them.

"These ruins extend through some two hundred miles of territory, and are similar in character. They were not built by the Pueblo Indians after these people had developed their fine pottery art. If so, some of the Pueblo pottery would have been found in the ruins. We have more than 250 Indian pictographs that were found in canyons near Kenton, Ok. These are of great interest, portraying the buffalo life size in color, and others showing Rocky Mountain sheep, deer, antelope and human figures. These should be preserved before they are further damaged by vandals."

PORTLAND, OREGON, HAS PUBLICITY MAN IN CHINA

By The Associated Press:

Shanghai, May 29.—Portland, Ore. probably is the first city in the world to send abroad a publicity agent to advertise its advantages as a commercial center and J. F. Buckley, who is Oriental traffic agent of the Port of Portland, certainly is the first city representative of this kind to come to China. In Shanghai he has set in motion a campaign of publicity to acquaint shippers throughout China with the extensive port improvements that have been and are to be carried out by the Rose City.

SUNSHINE PREVENTED OUTBREAK IN MADRID

By The Associated Press.

Madrid, June 11.—The sun prevented what threatened to be a serious outbreak in Madrid during the recent baker's strike. The first two days of the bread scarcity were dull and threatening and the hungry poor were so affected by the lowering skies and the lack of food that they paraded the streets in groups uttering shouts and menacing storekeepers who kept their establishments open.

On the third day the sun shone and although still hungry and compelled to wait indefinite hours for the loaves to be doled out, the people did so patiently and even cheerfully.

All kinds of laws and police regulations were broken by the men, women and children forming the almost endless bread-lines, but the authorities took a lenient view of what occurred.

When an old man brought a camp bedstead, set it up on the sidewalk and stretched himself on it, a policeman arrested him and led him to the station house with his bed. The police captain first looked grave, then began to laugh when the offender explained he knew he might have to wait anything from twelve to twenty hours for his bread and had merely provided against fatigue. He was released and returned to his place in the line with his bed amid the applause of the crowd.

Another group hired a barrel organ whose owner played popular melodies while the people waiting with growing appetites and hollow stomachs danced merrily. On the Calle de la Magdalena a cobbler arrived carrying a stool, his tools and a pair of shoes, which he was able to sole and heel before his turn came to obtain a loaf.

Similar scenes were enacted day after day amid general hilarity until the municipal authorities decided to break up the big bread-lines by distributing loaves from a large number of centers. The danger was then over.

Look Out For Holdup.

By The Associated Press.

El Paso, June 30.—Exportation of 1,000 cases of Kentucky whisky from the United States to a drug store in Juarez, the adjoining Mexican city, is announcde by customs officials. It was said to be the first liuor shipment to cross the line here since Jan 16, when national prohibition became effective.

The liquor was shipped "for medicinal purposes," the Volstead act providing that liquor may be eported for no other purpose.

ALIENS PAY TAXES UNDER COMPULSION

Disclose Incomes and Property When Endeavoring To Get Relatives Into U. S.

By The Associated Press.

New York, June 25.—Between nine and ten millions of dollars have been gathered from outgoing aliens who were too modest to declare the full amount of their earnings for income tax payments and many thousands more are being collected from delinquent aliens who boast of their ample incomes to immigration inspectors to convince those officials that they can easily care for incoming dependents, according to a statement made public here by Colonel Daniel L. Porter, supervising internal revenue agent of the Federal income tax collecting service.

Forty-five agents have been kept busy at the piers and elsewhere in the city collecting the millions from outgoing aliens. A small squad in a bureau established close by the courts of Special inquiry at the Ellis Island station, lend attentive ears to the boasts of the aliens.

For the months of February, March and April the reports show that more than $30,000 was collected at Ellis Island from alien tax dodgers, while three times that amount was traced to other localities and the collectors there notified. The reports for May are not yet filed, but the amount collected is said to have increased with the increasing flow of immigration

"A resident alien", explained Colonel Porter, "goes to the immigration station to sponsor a relative or a friend for admittance to this country, knowing the government's requirements that a responsible person must guarantee that the immigrant will not become a public charge The resident alien goes prepared to state on oath that his income is ample to safeguard the public against such dependents Whether or not this resident alien has paid his income tax becomes the immediate subject of interest of our agents They call the delinquent into a conference and, after allowing such exemptions as he may be entitled to, levy tax on the remainder of his sworn statement of income

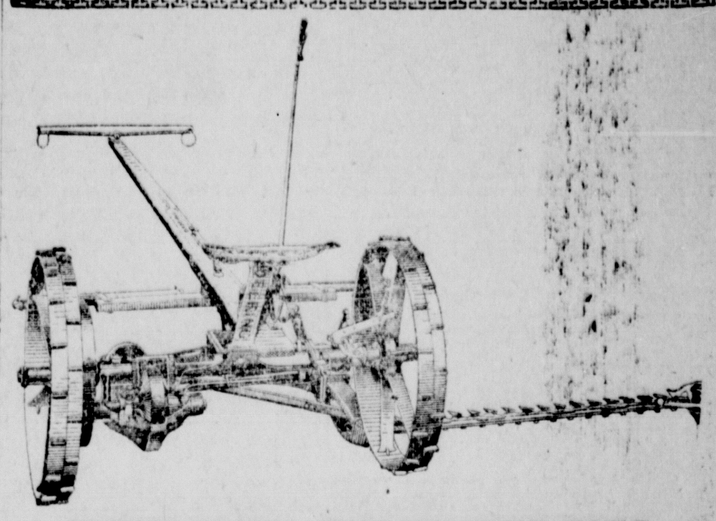

"When the tax dodger is a resident of some city or town not in our district his sworn statement is forwarded to the local collectors, who make the collections In other cases sent to the collector of the district they are made here and the money is wherein the tax dodger resides. Most moneys so collected range in amounts of from $15 to $500 and represent taxes due the government on small business concerns and on wages."

MISS BLANTON SAYS SCHOOL PER CAPITA $13

By The Associated Press.

Austin, June 30.—It is estimated by Miss Annie Webb Blanton, superintendent of public instruction, that the per capita apportionment for schools for the session of 1920-21 will be $13. This estimate, she said, is based upon calculated scholastic enrollment of one million two hundred and fifty thousand children, which allows for the same per centage of increases as last year. It is also assumed that the property valuation will be the same as last year and allows for the four million dollars apportioned by the legislature.

The special aid given by the legislature will give each teacher in the state an average increase of $123 a year, Miss Blanton estimated, by adding $3.20 to the capita apportionment. "The most poorly paid teachers should receive the larger percentages of increase, she said, "and it is hoped that this additional apportionment may aid stemming the exodus from the teaching profession."

MR. M'DOWRA'S CANDIDACY

The Morning News published in its issue of Wednesday a lengthy communication from Representative McDowra in which he makes it appear that The Morning News is merely trying to defeat McDowra without any reason.

That is not correct. The Morning News stated during the special session that Mr. McDowra was not representing his people in the matter of the pink boll worm; that he was listening to a lot of guff framed by the people of the infested district who wanted to plant cotton and who had no sort of regard for the remainder of the State of Texas or its people.

These people were represented by Jake Wolters of Houston, Fred Stevens of Liberty, Maco Stewart of Galveston—and Mr. McDowra listened to their clap-trap arguments.

He drew a bill; and it was thrown out at the end of the session. Mr. McDowra listened to reason when Governor Hobby sent in a message asking the legislature to merely make an appropriation to carry into effect the old law. The governor knew that the McDowra bill would not prevent the quarantine, the spread of the pink boll worm or accomplish what purpose there was in the special session.

Then Mr. McDowra signed the conference committee bill—and it was satisfactory. It provides for non-cotton zones, and that was the whole matter of the contention of The Morning News—that Mr. McDowra in his original bill was endeavoring to get by without such zones.

Certainly the substitute bill received the indorsement of the governor and of the Federal authorities—it contained the provision for non-cotton zones; just precisely what The Morning News contended all the while was needed; and that Mr. McDowra opposed until in the concluding days of the session he was overruled and brought to reason by the pressure of the members who had not listened to the alluring voices of those interested ones.

The Morning News has heretofore confessed that it didn't know whether Mr. McDowra had read the law of 1919. If he says he did, The Morning News is perfectly willing to believe him.

The Morning News couldn't tell, from what transpired in the committee or on the floor of the house during the regular session, that Mr. McDowra had read it or even knew it was pending. Mr. Brown of Liberty county, Mr. Tillotson of Austin and the members from Jefferson, Galveston, Brazoria, Hardin and a couple of other counties were in charge of the bill which was enacted.

The fatal defect in the law of 1919 was that there was provision for spending money and no appropriation made—a fatal defect. The governor and the Federal authorities and the commissioner of agriculture were not wholly pleased with the bill; but they accepted it as being better than nothing; and it contained the non-cotton zone regulation, which was the real need of the matter.

Mr. McDowra was not charged with the whole of the responsibility of permitting the law to get on the books with a fatal defect—but with his wide experience in legislative matters he could easily have discerned that the law was fatally defective had he been giving the attention to it that he did to the tire width bill, which he was handling at the request of the secretary of the State Hardware Dealers association, according to his own statement.

But Mr. McDowra is wrong in saying that The Morning News desires his defeat upon personal grounds. Not at all. It has been stated that in the pink boll worm matter Mr. McDowra did not represent his people of Lamar county and their interest. He was elected as a representative of this district and to guard the interest of the whole State. But he did not do so until he was forced.

The bill which was finally enacted by the special session carries the provision for non-cotton zones, it is true; and it is also true that Mr. McDowra signed the committee report which approved that bill; and it is also true that Mr. McDowra when he signed that report was in line with the interests of the people of Lamar county and of Texas—but Mr. McDowra made every effort to get through a bill without that non-cotton zone provision; and it was not because he wished to that he finally agreed to that provision. He was forced by the other members who were representing the interest of the farmers of Texas.

Give Mr. McDowra all the credit he deserves—and he still fell short of being a representative of the people of Lamar county and of their intersts.

THE DINNERHORN'S IMPATIENCE

Comes Editor Jackson of the Dinnerhorn with a defense of his impatience at the continued delay in making public any information concerning what is to be done about the water problem.

Editor Jackson thinks there is ground for impatience— reasons to believe that other matters are bing permitted to crowd the water problem from the thoughts of the mayor and aldermen.

Possibly the Dinnerhorn is correct in the matter and there has been delay which is neither necessary nor reasonable. The Morning News will grant, for the sake of argument, that there has been delay; and that it is not necessary; that it is contrary to the interests of the city of Paris.

But, at that, what is the Dinnerhorn going to do about it?

The water is bad, is getting worse; the supply is sufficient for 4000 people and there are 16,000 to use it.

But does the Dinnerhorn think that those facts mean anything to the people of Paris? If it does, cite us.

Have they not for these many years had a similar situation? Have they done anything about it? Do they propose to do anything about it?

Apparently not.

Editor Jackson has been a citizen of Paris for these several years; and if he sees any relief in sight the Morning News invites him to point it out.

The facts are known to every man, woman and child in the city; and they must realize just how serious the situation is. But they keep right on cheerfully drinking the stuff that flows through the pipes, sublimely optimistic that they will continue healthy on the diet.

Now let Editor Jackson tell in the Dinnerhorn what we are going to do about it—if he can.

I wish to announce to my patrons that I have sold my jitney business to Henry Widiman who will continue to operate the same.

I desire to extend my thanks to these patrons for their liberal support. After a few weeks vacation I expect to return to Paris where I will engage in business and hope to meet my old patrons again. B. P. Williams.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Baby Possum and Peter are Followed.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Baby Possum was getting his first real lesson in how to take care of himself in the Green Forest. Always before when there had been danger he had had Mammy Possum's big pocket to climb into and feel safe. Now it was all so different. Here he was tiptoeing along behind Peter Rabbit, so as not make the least little bit of noise for fear that Reddy Fox, who was hiding over behind the thick young hemlock tree, would hear them.

Eevery few minutes Peter Rabbit would stop, sit up very straight, and with his funny long ears listen and listen. At those times Baby Possum would crouch in a little bunch and listen and listen till it seemed as if his own heart thumped so loud that he couldn't hear anything else.

Farther and farther they got away from where Reddy Fox was hiding until finally Peter Rabbit kicked up his heels and then began to laugh. Baby Possum gave a great sigh of relief and began to laugh, too.

"I wish I could see Reddy Fox when he discovers that you are not up in the black birch tree where he thinks you are. I really do. My, won't he be mad!" said Peter Rabbit.

"Ah wish Ah wasn't so little. Ah wish Ah was growed up like you all, Peter Rabbit. Then Ah wouldn't have to be afraid of Reddy Fox and Shadow the Weasel," said Baby Possum as he looked up at Peter Rabbit admiringly. Peter made a wry face. "I'll tell you something, Baby Possum," sad he. "Reddy Fox spends half his time hunting for me, and I wouldn't like to meet him right this minute any more than you would. But I don't lose any sleep just being afraid of him. Oh, my, no! I just keep my wits sharper than his are. Now let's hurry along so as to get home to your hollow tree where you will be safe."

They hurried along through the Green Forest and, just as before, Peter Rabbit kept sitting up and listening. Once after doing this he squatted down in a hurry and whispered in Baby Possum's ear.

"Some one is following us and we must hurry, hurry"! whispered Peter Rabbit, excitedly.

He started off, liperty-liperty-hop, so fast that almost in a minute Baby [illegible]sum lost sight of him. Baby Pos[illegible] [illegible]an to cry, for you know he [illegible] w anything about the dan[illegible] Green Forest or even [illegible]'s way home. So Peter Rabbit hopped slowly, and behind him Baby Possum scurried as fast as his little legs would carry him. He was getting dreadfully out of breath and oh, so tired.

"Ah doan believe anybody's following we-alls," panted Baby Posum.

But Peter Rabbit was sure that there was, and grew more worried every minute. Pretty soon they came to a very wet place where the water stood in puddles on the ground. Baby Possum stopped, for he didn't want to get his feet wet. Then, before he knew what was coming, Peter Rabbit had pushed him right into one of the puddles. "Now follow me," whispered Peter Rabbit fiercely, hopping through one puddle after another, and Baby Possum was so frightened that he did.

Pretty soon, they came to a hollow log into which Peter crawled and Baby Possum after him. Hardly were they safely inside when peeping through a knot hole Baby Possum saw something long and slim, with fie[illegible]e little eyes, running with its nose to the ground, and it was follow[illegible]g the tracks of Baby Possum and Peter Rabbit. Right to the first puddle of water [illegible] came, and then stopped and showed all its teeth in an angry snarl.

"It's Shadow the Weasel," whispered Peter Rabbit, "and he can't follow us any further because he cannot smell our tracks in the water."

AMERICAN LEGION WAS FOUNDED 1792

Was At That Time the Regular Army Of the Country and So Known Four Years

By The Associated Press

Camp Pike, Ark., June 30.—The first "American Legion" was founded in 1792, and its existence, by that name, terminated in 1796. War department records show that when the regular army was first reorganized in 1792, following the revolutionary war, it was first officially designated the "Legion" and was divided into four sub-legions," of which the 4th United States Infantry was a part.

The idea of designating the United States Army as the legion originated with General Knox, secretary of war under George Washington. The army was patterned after the Roman legion, the old military organization under which Julius Caesar and hissuccessors conquered as much oft world as was then known.

The American "Legion" was commanded by General Anthony Wayne ("Mad Anthony") and was organized under his direction at Pittsburgh, Pa., in May, 1792. President Washington instructed General Wayne "do not spare powder and lead, so that the men be made marksmen." The Legion fought its only battle as a legion at Miami Rapids in the Kentucy-Ohio-Indian country August 20 1794, it having been decided that the Roman formation was not suitable for fighting Indians, the Legion was disbandde and reorganized into four regiments of infantry.

A. AND M. COLLEGE STAFF HAS DISTINGUISHED ADDITION

By The Associated Press.

College Station, June 30.—W. H. H. Morris, captain U. S. A., who was a major in the 360th infantry during the world war, and as a result of gallant and efficient service, won promotion to a lieutenant colonelcy and the Distinguished Service Cross, has reported to the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas here to assume duties as assistant professor of military science and tactics in charge of the infantry unit.

Captain Morris, prior to the war, was on detail at A and M. in the same capacity as that to which he now returns. He was an instructor at the first and second training camps at Leon Springs and joined the 90th division just before it sailed for France. He was assigned as a major to the 360th infantry, a regiment in the Texas brigade.

The arrival of Captain Morris gives the college here seven regular army officers on detail as instructors. They are C. H. Muller, captain cavalry, professor of military science and tactics; while Louis R. Dougherty, captain field artillery; W. H. H. Morris, captain infantry; W. T. Bals, captain cavalry; A. L. Tuttle, captain infantry; R. W. Wilson, first lieutenant field artillery, and L. A. Kurtz, first lieutenant signal corps, are assistant professors of military science and tactics.

The A. and M. college has three batteries of artillery, two troops of cavalry, three companies of signal corps, and eight infantry companies to be organized at the next scholastic session.

The rating of "distinguished military college", the highest honor that can be paid to a military institution in the United States, was conferred this week for the tenth time on Texas A. and M.

Loss of Appetite.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worrq about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.

Don't forget the name of the remedy you need when the stomach or bowels are disordered. Prickly Ash Bitters quickly corrects such troubles and makes you feel bright and cheerful. You should have a bottle at home all the time. It is the dose taken promptly that prevents sickness and expense. Price $1.25 per bottle. R. J. Murphy, special agent.

STERILIZE CORN THAT IS IMPORTED FROM MEXICO

By The Associated Press:

El Paso, June 29.—The establishment of a sterilization plant to treat corn, makes posible the importation of large quantities of corn from Chihuahua, Mexico, despite quarantine regulations made by the United States to prevent further entry of the pink boll worm in Texas.

Corn put through this plant, which has been put in operation at El Paso by a local importer, is allowed to pass the quarantine, and the chambers of commerce of both Juarez and Chihuahua City, are making efforts to secure the removal of rectrictions upon large exportations of corn which have been placed by the government.

They declare that the production of corn this season was three times as great as is required to meet needs of the State of Chihuahua, and that, because of transportation facilities, Texas offers the logical market for the surplus. Carranza had modified the embargo against the exportation of foodstuffs from Mexico so that it did not apply to corn, but the defacto government renewed that provision A local importer estimates that the Chihuahua corn production was 16,000,000 bushels in excess of its needs.

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such gneeral uuse. When this remedy is given with castor oil, as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fuully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr W. G. Campbell of Butler, Tenn. says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."

LEGISLATURE MET CRISIS IN SCHOOL AFFAIRS OF TEXAS WITH PROMPTNESS

By The Associated Press.

Austin, June 30.—That the Texas legislature at the recent special session "met the crisis in the school affairs of the state with promptness and decisiveness," is the opinion of Governor W. P. Hobby.

The appropriation of four million dollars out of the general funds of the state he declared to be apportioned alike to each child in Texas, added to the appropriation of two million dollars heretofore made for the aid of rural schools of inadequate resources, together with what may be derived from the school fund after the purchase of text books will provide the public school system of the state not only with what is needed to keep them going but with facilities for improving and elevating the standard of education in Texas.

"It will, to a large extent, help solve the unpaid teachers problem in Texas. The bill for the appropriation of one million dollars for the higher educational institutions will make it possible to furnish instructors for all of those who will seek entrance at the schools and retain the high grade instructors necessary to their continued operation, Governor Hobby said.

The governor added that in the absence of this action, there would have been "chaos" if not the actual closing up of some of the branches in the higher educational institutions.

"The remarkable feature about this achievement in behalf of education," he concluded, "is that it is accomplished without the slightest risk of a deficiency in the treasury, because the fiscal affairs of the state are in such excellent shape."

Horse Sense Caught Thieves.

Sullivan, Ind., June 30.—An application of ordinary horse sense led to the arrest of four men on a charge of larceny. Thieves, frightened away from the farm of Frank Springer, left a team of horses and a wagon near the corncrib. The team was started and permitted to take its own course. It went to the home of Geo. McAngus, who with three other men at the home were arrested.

Too Long Between Baths.

By The Associated Press

Logansport, Ind., June 30.—Alleging that her husband's neglect of his personal appearance caused her great mental anguish and embarrassment, Mrs. Katherine C. Leffert of this city, brought suit in circuit court for a divorce from George C. Leffert. She alleges her husband at times goes as long as eight months without taking a bath.

A TRIBUTE TO A CITIZEN OF PARIS—A REPUBLICAN

(From the Texas Republic.)

Although The Republic is not authorized to say that the Hon. Phil E. Baer has any ambition to again fill the position of State Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Texas, it is certain that he should be tendered at least another term, and it believes he would accept the responsibility if asked to do so. Mr. Baer has directed the party's affairs with such singular ability, it would not be easy to find a man who would be so acceptable to the party, nor who would be able to take his place.

It is well understood, that the position imposes a great sacrifice of both time and money, and that the service is entirely gratuitous; but Mr. Baer has not at any time hesitated to make the required sacrifice for the welfare of the party.

He is one of the very big Republicans of the South, a natural leader, with high executive ability, and has the confidence of the people of Texas and of the country at large.

His services are altogether too valuable to be lost, particularly during a period when there is an exceptionally fighting chance for the Republicans to win in the State and in the Nation. The Republic takes pleasure in nominating him for re-election as State Chairman.

TEXAS COLLECTOR WILL GET AFTER DRINK TAXES

By The Associated Press.

Austin, June 29.—An intensive state wide "tax drive for the collection of delinquent sales and other miscellaneous taxes, such as the so-called luxury taxes, the soft drink tax, the admission tax, the manufacturers tax and the tax on jewelry and works of art, and the tax on toilet articles and proprietary medicines" will be launched in Texas soon, according to a statement issued here by A. S. Walker, internal revenue collector.

"Reports of laxity upon the parts of dealers," the statement declared, "and other persons responsible for the return and collection of these taxes have reached the bureau of internal revenue from many sources."

"It is the intention to conduct as thorough and effective campaign as possible in such way as to bring to justice willful violators, and cause no embarassments to merchants and business men who honestly are endeavoring to comply with the revenue laws. Discovery of evidence to show willful tax evasion will be followed by prosecution."

EVERYTHING READY FOR SUNDAY'S GAM.

Snapp Has Club That Is Able On Form To Take Sulphur Springs Down the Line

Earl Snapp and George Williams leave this morning for Commerce where they will join a base ball team at that place for a three days engagement .These two mainsprings of the Snapper infield will be home Saturday night in time for the engagement with Sulphur Springs Sunday and Monday. Snapp will keep his eye peeled for possible playing talent while on this trip, and if any player bobs up that he thinks will strengthen the Snappers the aforesaid gent will be hired for that occasion.

Reports from Sulphur Springs are that the populace of that town are all worked up over the coming games and that they will have a big crowd here to help root for victory. These birds are going to bring a strong club to Paris—stronger than on the occasion of their previous visit—and they think with Big Boy Donahue on the pitching peak that they will romp home with the scalps of the Snappers.

Other ball teams have come to Paris on the same mission, but very, very few of them have had any luck. Owing to the death of his little child Jones, the Dallas lefthander, has notified Snapp that he will not be able to report here Sunday, and that he may quit playing ball altogether. In Battle, another fork-handed hurler, Snapp will have equally as good a twirler as Jones, and one who has had a great deal of experience.

Battle is a little fellow, built along the lines of Dicky Kerr. He is not very well known in this part of the country, most of his games having been played in the old Central Texas league, with Waxahachie, to which club he was sent from Denison, with a string attached. He was recalled by Denison, but the Western Association went blooey the next season. Battle has been pitching semi-pro ball through Oklahoma and Kansas for the past two or three years and is recognized as a star in the company in which he has worked. This boy will give Mr. Donahue and the rest of the Sulphur Springs aggregation a run for its money—you can count on that. Battle will, of course, work the Sunday game, and either Smith or Wilkinson Monday, unless Snapp picks up some phenom in the meantime.

PARIS AND CLARKSVILLE TO PLAY TWO BALL GAMES

The Paris All-Stars and Clarksville are scheduled for two games here Sunday and Monday, the games to be played at the Fair Grounds. A diamond has been laid out at the Fair Grounds and it has been worked on, plowed, harrowed and rolled until it is in excellent condition, and as fast as they make 'em.

The All-Stars are composed exclusively of home talent and have some fast local players on their roster. In their battles with Clarksville the club will line up as follows: Spann, cf., Hankins, 1b., Peeler, 3b., Robinson, lf., Kuykendall, 2b., Bray, ss., Rooks, rf., Eubanks or Estes, c., Jones and Rooks, p.

Herbert Jones, a local boy, is the pitching ace of the team, and he has done some enviable work this spring. In 39 innings Jones has not allowed a pass, has given up a total of 12 hits and has struck out 25 men. He has worked in one 11-inning 3-to-3 tie game, lost a 3-to-1 game in 15 rounds and in his last game, pitched at McKinney, was in another tie battle, this contest going 13 innings to a 1-to-1 tie. Some pitching!

For Sunday's game against Clarksville there will be an admission fee or 40 cents charged, which will include war tax, while the Monday game will be played under the auspices of the American Legion, being one of the attractions at their big barbecue and picnic. This game will be free to all. Both contests promise some good base ball and a big crowd is expected to witness them.

LUXURIANT HAIR FOR YOU?

Of course you desire it. Then read of this wonderful hair elixir, KOTALKO

Worry no more about your hair, Miss, Mrs. or Sir! Throw away those liquid lotions that are only drying your scalp and doing no good whatsoever. Don't shampoo the natural oils out of your scalp.

There's a hair elixir that is meeting with increasing favor, for it is altogether different from the scented lotions, emulsions and washes. It is Kotalko, compounded from the Three Kingdoms, by Nature and including the ingredients, one of which is the genuine bear oil, which you have heard of as marvelous in fertilizing hair.

No matter what condition your hair is in—do not despair. Kotalko is compounded on the principle that aided Nature in giving one a full growth of hair when I was bald (see the picture below) and it is doing wonders for others—men, women and children.

I could fill this whole paper with copies of testimonials from persons who endorse Kotalko. The enthusiasm is great when a person finds, after all else has failed, that Kotalko is just what Nature needed as aid in producing a splendid growth of hair.

When Bald Hair Grown

You may now obtain the genuine Kotalko under my guarantee at the drug store, or the druggist will get it for you, but take nothing else that is said to be "just as good," for you will then only delay your use of Kotalko. Or, if you wish first to prove Kotalko, send for a Testing Box which will come to you by mail promptly in a plainly wrapped package. Enclose only 10 cents, silver or stamps, in your letter.

Satisfy yourself. You want to stop falling hair, eliminate dandruff, strengthen and develop renewed growth of strong and silk-like hair, or cover that bald spot with hair. Buy KOTALKO at the druggist's, or get the dime testing box by mail NOW, apply once or twice daily—watch in your mirror! Address

What you want to know is how much the paint covers, how well it covers and how long it takes a man and brush to do the work.

One way to figure is with a pencil. The right way is with a brush. Figure this way and you will use Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint. And once you use it, you'll always use this paint and no other.

CEIVES OFFICIAL F HIS SON'S DEATH

mmond of this city, whose Mayor Robert C. Drumpany E, 359th Infantry, the army in France and time to time reported missed the first official informaerday from the War Departhis death and of the finding body.

communication from the War tment contained the brief notice the body had been disinterred reburied in the American cem- at St. Mihiel. It didn't state re the body had been found or been previously buried and disinred or where he was killed.

The last official information received by the father from the War Department before the letter yesterday was that he was presumed to have been killed in action Sept. 26 1918, in a night raid on the little town of Preney. The Germans anticipated the move and cut them off with a heavy barrage.

A month or two ago an Associated Press dispatch announced that several bodies had been found in shell holes by American workmen and had all been identified and reburied, but the names were not published. It was in the St. Mihiel district and Mr. Drummond thought that his son might possibly have been among the number, which appears to be confirmed by the letter received by him.

The last information received by Mr. Drummond of his son's being seen alive was in a letter from Lieut. Peter McKenna of Galveston who commanded the battalion at Preney after twenty-seven superior officers had been killed, captured or wounded. He stated that he sent Sergt. Major Drummond to take charge of the left wing and Sergt. Leslie High of Enloe, Delta county to take charge of the right wing in the advance.

This was the last time as far as he knew that Sergt. Major Drummond was seen alive. They were then miles inside the German lines.

Sergt. High's family at Enloe got word from the War Department some time after the armistice was signed that the Germans had returned his identification tag to the authorities over there with the statement that they had buried him.

OUTLAW ORGANIZERS ARE WHIPPED AT PINE BLUFF

By The Associated Press

Pine Bluff, Ark., June 30.—J. S. Eubanks, president of the St. Louis Yardmen's association, and Rev. J. P. Aregood, a Baptist Minister of St. Louis were escorted out of town by a citizens commitee of nine as they were about to address a mass meeting of labor union people here tonight. They were taken three miles from the city, partially stripped, whipped with switches cut from trees and told to leave the city and to stay away.

Eubanks and Aregood came here to revive the Pine Bluff local of the outlaw switchmen's union which organized last week, struck, and then went back to work when the mayor and chamber of commerce officials appealed to the members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen to end the strike.

Brotherhood members tonight denounced the agitators and declared that they will deal only through the recognized heads of their union.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY SECURITY COMPANY

Wonderful Growth of Financial Organization Guided With Marked Ability

That keeping everlastingly at it, backed by judgment, business ability and brains, spells success is exemplified in the Security Investment Co. which is today entering on its fifth milestone of success. Just five years ago today this concern was organized under the title of the People's Loan Association. The capital stock of the then new enterprise was set at $10,000, of which $500 was paid in, the remainder to be paid in monthly installments of $5 per month.

With a working capital of $500 the little company started out with C. F. House, its parent and organizer, at the head as manager. Through the hustling and able management of Mr. House this little $10,000 company has grown from year to year until today it is ranked among the strong financial enterprises in the country.

The year of the big fire the company suffered a heavy loss, being uninsured, but came right back with the never-say-die true Paris Spirit. In its beginning Mr. House was the manager, collector and general all-round factotum of the business, and it has been through his careful nursing, rare judgment and ability that the business is the success that it is today. Even in the days of its infancy the People's Loan Association was a dividend producer, paying its stockholders a nice return and doing this semi-annually.

Today the Security Investment Co. has taken the place of the People's Loan Association, but under the same management. The capital stock has been increased from year to year until today it is an incorporated business with a capitalization of $200,000, a big office force, and does a general loan business, including real estate and other branches. It has a handsomely furnished building, equipped with all the modern furniture that goes with big business. Five years old today, and still growing, is the Security Investment Co.

Mr. C. F. House is still the active head of the business, being both president and manager. The other officers are C. H. Thompson, vice-president; W. H. P. Anderson, vice-president and C. P. Johnson, secretary and treasurer. The directors are Morris Fleming, Guy Caldwell, W. G. Moore, Jno. S. Baker, M. E. Griffith, J. R. Mallory, Max Chapman, C. F. House, C. H. Thompson, W. H. P. Anderson, C P. Johnson.

The Security Investment Co. stands today as a credit to its originator and founder. It is built on business principles, has always been conducted on business principles, and with the present management and directorate will continue on the road to greater successes in the financial and business world.

LYNCH DAVIDSON

of Houston, Harris County

Mr. Davidson has a keen perspective of the needs of the State in many ways; but more especially as to the matter of expenditures. He started life with mighty little and he has known the practical effects of economy during his whole life. He does not believe that there should be levied any more taxes than should be needed for economical administration of the State government; believes in close estimates and is opposed to a great surplus in the treasury with the resultant invitation to the members of the legislature to spend it merely because it is there.

FO... ALL ABOUT HIS TROUBLE

"For two years before I began taking Tanlac my health was so bad I lost two or three hours from work every day, but since taking five bottles of the medicine, I am in as fine health as I ever was in my life," said C. H. Melton, construction foreman for the Western Union Telegraph Co., living at 3336 Tracy avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

"I had stomach trouble and nervous indigestion for twenty years," he continued. "Five years ago I got in such bad shape that everything I ate caused me terrible suffering from gas and at times I could hardly breathe. I had a stuffy feeling all the time and was so constipated I had to keep taking laxitives. My head ached sometimes like it would simply burst and I became so weak and rundown it looked like I would have to give up my work entirely.

"A friend of mine had tried Tanlac and recommended it so highly I decided to take it, too, and believe me, I found it to be a real medicine. In three days time my appetite began to improve and my stomach got better. I kept on improving rapidly and now I eat anything I want, have gained eleven pounds and never have stomach trouble, headaches or constipation any more. I never felt better in my life and it is a real pleasure to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Paris by Mayes Drug Store, in Blossom by J. D. Dickey and Son, in Roxton by City Drug Store, in Howland by K. B. Burgess.

CONFEDERATE PENSIONERS IN TEXAS ARE DECREASING.

By The Associated Press

Austin, June 29.—A decerase of 841 pensioners from the list of Confederate veterans drawing quarterly allotments from the Texas pension fund was shown for June, 1920, as compared with the same month a year ago, in the monthly statement of M. L. Wiginton, state comptroller. There are now 15,786 pensioners on the rolls, each of whom receives $22 per quarter. The allotment for the present quarter will be $24, the statement said.

The comptroller says the balance on hand in the state treasury to the credit of the Confederate pension fund at the beginning of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1919, was $505,071. Receipts during the current year were $1,365,799 and disbursements $1,484,918. At the close of the last quarter, on May 31, 1920, there was a balance of $753,043 with warrants outstanding to the amount of $362,644.

The increase in the current quarters' allotment of one dollar was granted "so that those who enjoy this meager benefit may receive every dollar available," the statement said.

Continuing, the comptroller says the pension fund is equally distributed between all beneficiaries and can be drawn upon only for payment of quarterly pension warrants and mortuary warrants issued after the death of a pensioner. Not a dollar of the fund, he declares, is expended for clerical hire, postage or other expense.

COTTON STAYS DOWN AND NO INDICATIONS FOR RISE

Government Report.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, June 300.—Good to excellent developments of the cotton crop during the past week in most sections of the belt and substantial improvement in the other districts was reported tonight by the department of agriculture in its weekly bulletin on crop conditions. Weather conditions were favorable generally although nights were too cool in the eastern and northeastern sections for the best development of the crop, the report stated.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 30.—Depressions prevailed in the cotton market today during the greater part of the session but toward the close a fairly strong recovery occurred. Less bearish convictions regarding bureau day obtained after the receipt of a private bureau report on condition of 71.2 percent of normal. The close was 14 points up to 12 points down net for the day.

Around the opening the most active months were 3 to 4 points up but this slight gain was followed by a decline which carried prices 21 to 22 points under the close of yesterday.

Late in the session the market was at its best 3 to 19 points higher than the close of yesterday with July at 37.02 and October at 33.01.
